

The Surgical Innovations (SI) team were interviewed yesterday by BBC Radio Leeds at our state-of-the-art facility in relation to SI's successful apprenticeship scheme.

Forming part of National Apprenticeship Week 2012, apprentice Jake Williams and HR Manager Jennie Jones both discussed the benefits of apprenticeships and the scheme available at SI. All eyes are on apprenticeships this week and it's all about raising the profile amongst employers, potential apprentices, teachers, parents and the media.

SI has been nominated for Medium Employer of the Year at the Leeds Apprenticeship Recognition Awards and will be attending the prestigious event at Leeds Civic Hall this evening.
