

Surgical Innovations Group plc (AIM: SUN), the designer and manufacturer of creative solutions for minimally invasive surgery ('MIS'), has announced the first successful hip arthroscopy test earlier on this week. The pilot cadaver testing attracted national and local press coverage over the past days with its positive outcome. Hip arthroscopy is a minimally invasive clinical procedure that is still classed as relatively new, but offering a solution for the clinical and patient need.

The Daily Express mentioned the pilot as part of the "Small Companies Roundup". The Business Desk said: "Pilot test at Surgical Innovations is a success" and the online publication WatsHot.com highlights: "No doubt, it will help raise the company's profile in the industry."

The financial online publications ShareCast and Stock Market Wire have covered the positive testing results, as well as the connected implications for Surgical Innovations share price.

Healthcare specialist Medilink and med latest, a resource for medical device news have published an article on their website, covering Surgical Innovations latest success.
