

From today to 21st November, Surgical Innovations (SI) will be exhibiting at BAPES (British Association of Paediatric Endoscopic Surgeons) in Glasgow, Scotland - the second paediatric congress we have exhibited at within a 2 month period!

Accompanying SI on the stand will be our UK distributor Elemental Healthcare, this partnership aims to raise the profile of our 3mm devices for 'ultra' minimally invasive surgery amongst the paediatric surgeon attendees.

The exhibition marks SI's commitment to providing paediatric surgeons with the latest innovative 3mm instrumentation, including our Logi™Range 3mm graspers, YelloPort+plus™ 3mm port access system and our newest innovations PretzelFlex™ 3mm and Logi™Cut 3mm. The devices provide substantial cost-saving benefits to hospitals combined with the British engineered quality which SI is renowned for.

In October SI attended its first paediatric exhibition ESPES (European Society of Paediatric Endoscopic Surgeons) in Naples, Italy. The congress was a great success with excellent feedback gained from the clinicians in attendance.

BAPES was established in 1999 to lead and support the development and maintenance of a high standard and advances in technology in minimal access therapy in paediatric surgery and allied specialties. If you would like to visit SI at the BAPES stand, please contact sales@surginno.co.uk.
