

Surgical Innovations (SI) was pleased to host a visit for the senior theatre team from Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital as part of our strategy to build closer relationships with key accounts in the UK.

Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital is a major account for SI and our UK distributor Elemental Healthcare and the visit was important to establish closer relationships and to thank the hospital for their continued support.

They were able to offer design feedback to our concept and product development departments from a theatre team perspective which focuses on easy and effective assembly of devices prior to use by the surgeon. This will play a key role in our product development cycle moving forward, with the ultimate aim of developing a Clinical Advisory Board for healthcare professionals.

Royal Devon and Exeter Hospital has recently converted to using SI's Resposable™ YelloPort+plus™ port access system and reusable Logic™ instrumentation in their laparoscopic procedures which forms an important part of the hospitals cost-saving measures.
